

SEEK MEN WHO KIDNAPED PASTOR

Presbyterian Church Controversy Taken Up by County Authorities.

LAWTON, Okla., May 2—(By The Associated Press)—The Lawton Presbyterian Church controversy got outside the confines of the church today.

A civil court of inquiry was under way directed by Fletcher Riley, county attorney, who announced he would go to the bottom of the whole dissension in an effort to determine the identity of three men, who last Sunday night abducted the pastor, the Rev. Thomas J. Irwin and threw him in a ditch beside a road outside Lawton, half conscious and securely tied and gagged. Filing of criminal charges, he said, would depend upon the outcome of the investigation.

The county attorney started about his inquiry today by preparing subpoenas for about thirty persons who had been suspended from Pastor Irwin's church. They were ousted by the church executive board with the sanction of Mr. Irwin and have been aligned against the minister in the movement to have him expelled from the Lawton pulpit on formal charges drawn up by the governing El Reno Presbytery.

County Attorney Riley said all the suspended members and anti-Irwin factionists would be interrogated about the abduction of the pastor, and it was indicated that each would be asked to explain his whereabouts on the night the alleged slugging and kidnapping took place.

Pastor Irwin and three members of the church were called in last night and questioned at length when the county attorney decided to convene the inquiry court.

Their testimony was kept secret, and it was not known whether Mr. Irwin gave any clue to the identity of his abductors. He has publicly stated that he did not recognize the three men.

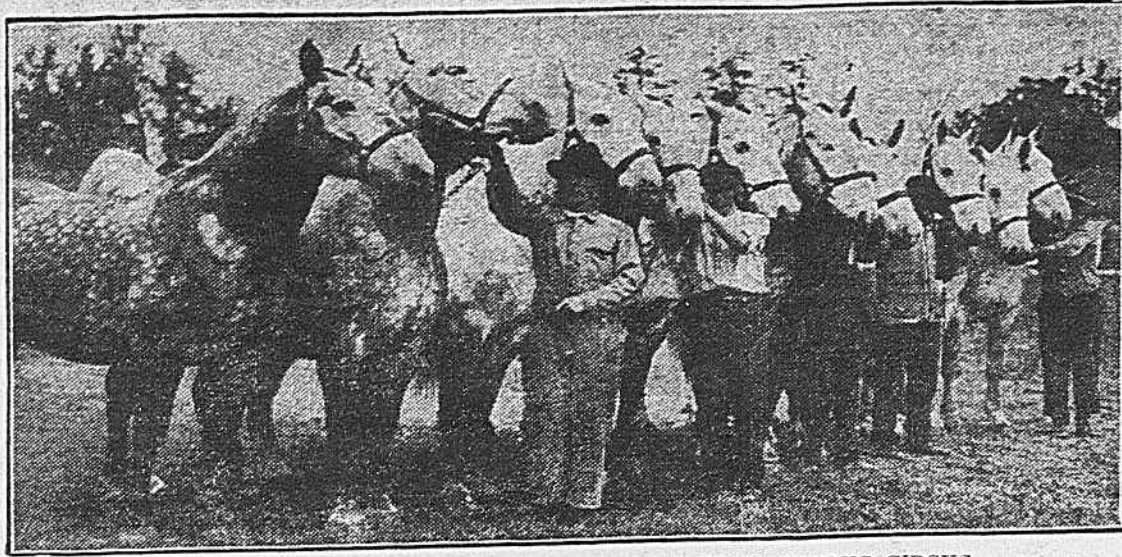

Speculation today centered upon whether Mr. Irwin would submit to trial before a commission appointed by the El Reno Presbytery on charges of conduct unbecoming a minister. The pastor asserted he was going to carry his case before the Oklahoma synod and intimated he planned a strategic move.

Daughter of Late Governor of Maryland Seeks Divorce

BALTIMORE, May 2—Mrs. Louise Warfield Ledochowska, daughter of the late Governor Edwin Warfield of Maryland, yesterday filed in the Circuit Court for Howard County at Ellicott City a petition for absolute divorce from Count Vladimir Ledochowska, of Warsaw, Poland.

Mrs. Ledochowska charged abandonment without cause since April 1919 and infidelity with women whose identity is unknown to the plaintiff in Nice and Monte Carlo. She asked custody of their three children and permanent alimony. Count Ledochowska was summoned to appear in person or by representative before June 17 to show cause why the divorce should not be granted.

CIRCUS ANIMALS EARN BIG PAY

A LINEUP OF BLUE RIBBON WINNERS WITH SPARKS CIRCUS.

The automobile may have ousted the horse from the majority of positions at one time held, but he is supreme in one profession at least, according to Jim Irving, big stock superintendent of the Sparks Circus. "The horse," said the superintendent, running his hand along the glossy draft animal's arched neck, "is versatile. He will perform in a ring and after leaving the limelight he will at a pinch turn around and help move the paraphernalia of the show. If a circus breaks down on the road, the horse is there to help out. The elephant will do the same thing, but those two are the only salary earning animals that can turn their talents to genuine usefulness while they are acting." The Mighty Babe, leader of the Sparks elephant herd and nicknamed by the circus as "The Skyscraper," is an adept at lifting heavy loads.

Sparks Big Circus will exhibit here on Thursday, May 11, giving two performances and inaugurating its appearance with a splendid street pageant of wondrous length. There will be three military bands and two calliopes, so the musical portion will not be found lacking. Scores of open dens of ferocious wild beasts and their trainers, two hundred absolutely faultless horses—many of them Prize Horse-Show winners; several hundred mounted men and women and hosts of other novelties will be in line in the street display. Two performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. Before the regular performance given in which patrons of the circus may visit the menagerie and see the animals that have been gathered from the ends of the earth for your benefit.

STUDENTS PROMOTE WAR AGAINST FLIES

A man's greatness consists in his service to humanity. Fairmont to measure to its responsibility must wage relentless war upon the fly. That at least is the opinion of the promoters of the anti-fly campaign this week.

Swatting is the least important means of killing flies. The solution is the destruction or removal of their breeding places. One insanitary home may affect an entire neighborhood and neglect along this line cause the death of many children.

To make Fairmont a flyless town the breeding places of the pest must be destroyed. Flies breed in any fermenting organic matter, in excreta, in garbage and in old rags and papers if they become wet and mouldy. Filth in the gutters, refuse piles around stables and decaying animals are favorite haunts of the fly and from these he goes straightway to one's table and banquets on the daintiest morsels. He leaves in his path germs of typhoid fever, cholera, tuberculosis, summer complaint and other diseases. Disease germs are in no wise injured by their being taken into or being expelled from the body of a fly.

Dr. Jesse A. Jamison, city health officer, is offering a prize of $2 to the child killing the most flies.

The anti-fly campaign is in connection with the city "Clean-Up Week" and is being promoted by the students of the Fairmont High School general science and community civics classes, which are taught by Miss Jennie Harshbarger and Miss Elizabeth Kofka. Scott C. Lowe, Jr., is the press agent for the campaign.

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS X-RAY SPECIALIST DIES

BELLEVILLE, Ill., May 2—Dr. Hebert Roberts, internationally known X-ray and radium specialist, died at his home here yesterday. His death indirectly was due to burns received while experimenting with roentgen rays before present day precautionary measures were known.

Dr. Roberts began his research work immediately after graduation from the University of Illinois. During an X-ray experiment he lost three fingers of the left hand, the injury developing into a progressive malignancy.

After the discovery of radium, Dr. Roberts directed his research work to the new element and made frequent trips to St. Joachim's-Thal where the discoverer of radium, Mme. Curie, maintains a laboratory.

At the time of his death, Dr. Roberts was president of the Southern Illinois Medical Society. He was the founder of the Roentgen Ray Society and also founder and first editor of the Man's-Ray Journal.
